

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

The following amendments were made to the specification:

On page 7, lines 18, "side-b-side" was changed to -side-by-side-.

In line 21, "ad" was changed to -and-.

On page 8, line 18, "a" was deleted.

On page 9, lines 22, 23 the phrase "selves are 144 sewn into place" was changed to "guides 144 are sewn into place".

On page 10, line 22, "and" was changed to -and-.

In line 4 of the abstract, the phrase ", is disclosed and claimed" was deleted.

The following amendments were made to the claims:

In claim 1, line 5, the word -and- was inserted after "assemblies"

In line 7, -at least one- was inserted after "the".

In lines 28, 34 (two occurrences), -at least one- was inserted before each occurrence of "bladder".

In line 27, "assembly" was changed to -assemblies-.

In claim 3, line 13, "patterns" was changed to -pattern-.

In line 21, "said abutments" was deleted. The examiner stated that "said abutments" lacked antecedent basis. However, line 11 specifically identifies "and abutting one another". Applicant believes this provides adequate antecedent basis for "said abutments" in line 21. Since the Examiner closed prosecution on the merits, applicant's deletion of the "said abutments" is not intended to limit the scope of the claim. Rather, the specification and drawings clearly indicate that the stitching between the straps in the area where the straps abut one another is covered by the claims.

In claim 4, line 9, "lay" was changed to -lie-.

In line 11, "at said abutments" was deleted.
